THEFT OF SUMMER ACCOMMODATION CONTRACT This 2-in-1 bundle pack is a big boon for university lecturers, keynote speakers at corporate seminars, and instructors at other learning institutions, concerned with teaching email ethics to their students and attendees. Read the first book and follow it with the inspiring case study which is given in the second book in order to fully derive the essence and message conveyed through this bundle edition. You will begin to realize the extraordinary importance of email ethics; the power of CC, BCC, and Forwarding while using emails for communication. The first e-book outlines the ethical practices involving email systems. It approaches this topic from various angles and provides various ideas that also take into consideration the etiquette governing the ethics and the policies. Finally a new software LOOP HAWK AND EMAIL POLICY MONITOR that provides the laws for CC, BCC, and Forwarding is proposed. The second e-book presents a real incident that happened at Unitec New Zealand during 2007. This inspiring true story revolves around the theft of summer accommodation contract and how the hero gets blackmailed in order to get kicked out of his apartment by the baddies. You will discover that the hero solved the entire problem in an amicable fashion using email! He was simultaneously interacting with the accommodation office, the international office, and the student union in a creative and investigative fashion using the power of CC, BCC, and Forwarding. Thus he brought out the facts in the crime and forced the rogue student magazine editor to publish his grievance. Real names of the involved persons are changed. Evidence documents are included as images. Real names are masked in the images using black airbrush. --- The Mind Map Series connects related stations from The Thought Train Series to delight the reader with learning experiences on related topics.
