

Survey of Chester County, Pennsylvania, Architecture

Chester County is one of the three original counties formed in 1682 in southeastern Pennsylvania by William Penn under Charter signed by King Charles II. The architecture created there bears out the settlers mostly British roots. This survey includes homes, barns, out buildings, and commercial properties built here from the county's 17th century beginnings through the 19th century. Hundreds of overall and detail photographs and select plan drawings are included to illustrate a few of the buildings.
