

Corporate CPR: Resuscitating the Business of Humanity

Corporate CPR has been written to inspire and guide us to resuscitate our Business of Being Human. It chronicles the impact of a defining moment on the author at the age of seventeen, that instantly revealed the true nature of the world in which he lived, and his struggle to escape the portent of that vision. For the next forty-years he pursues many paths, believing each held the promise of delivering him from the fate of others, until he comes to realize how the experience he had as a teenager holds the key to guiding humanity towards its Greatest Common Good: our greatest weakness, our Practice of Fear, is actually our greatest strength upside-down. This book is an invitation to access the wisdom hidden within each moment, that exists to guide us in our discernment regarding those choices we make, which bind us or free us from our unconscious Practice of Fear
