

Desert harvest: A guide to vegetable gardening in arid lands

Since no one method of gardening solves all the problems inherent in a desert environment, the information contained in the booklet reflects parts of numerous methods. Elements from French Intensive Gardening, Biodynamics, Chinese Raised Bed, and other organic systems that worked best for local gardeners are included. The raised beds characteristic of a French intensive system are included but the bed design itself is substantially altered to fit a desert climate. Gardeners are encouraged to work within the fragile desert ecosystem instead of creating an energy consumptive, artificial environment.
